Test result: Excellent

PURE INDULGENCE OF MATERIAL

“Really! Four ways? 1000€ will usually buy a two-and-a-half to three-way configuration in this class. Magnat’s speaker, which is generously equipped with five drivers and comes in at a price of 1.100 € per pair, is therefore very attractively positioned.”

“The Signature unit is a master of fine details. The sound range is extremely lively, open and spacious, with a deep, solid foundation, the textures of which are exquisitely reproduced. The overall presentation is high; only the super tweeter may tend to overdo things slightly for sensitive ears. What the price of the 507 includes in terms of material is enormous.”

Lab comment:

“When rotated minimally, the amplitude frequency response of the Magnat Signature is fairly linear (neutral) and exhibits a high degree of efficiency, a good level of depth (38 Hertz) and low distortion properties. The impedance curve is well-tempered, while the timing for a four-way speaker is excellent.”

Conclusion:

“This is a speaker that will win almost everyone over when played briefly and it will draw just a few comparisons when listened to for an extended period. Magnat’s speaker produces an agile, grand and poised performance that is perhaps a little dramatic. With an outstanding tonal coordination, it exhibits universal virtues and captivating rhythms.”
